Abstract

EL-1 v1.0 presents the first complete, canonical edition of the Core English Emotional Lexicon within the Core Emotion Framework (CEF). Expanding from the 200-term developmental edition (v0.4) to a comprehensive 500-term lexicon, this release establishes the full semantic resolution of the CEF emotional ontology. Each entry is represented using the TS-6 hybrid symbolic–vector schema, ensuring structural precision, drift-resistant mapping, and machine-readable emotional geometry.

The v1.0 expansion introduces 300 new emotional microstates, including high-resolution “soft” affective states, relational nuances, motivational gradients, existential micro-modes, and cognitive-affective blends. All entries preserve cumulative integrity with earlier editions (v0.1–v0.4) and maintain strict representational discipline to prevent conceptual drift. This edition serves as the definitive reference for emotional semantics within the CEF canon and provides a stable foundation for research, modeling, and affective computing applications.

Preface

EL-1 v1.0 marks the completion of a multi-stage developmental arc that began with the 10-term seed set (v0.1) and expanded through the 50-term (v0.2), 120-term (v0.3), and 200-term (v0.4) editions. This volume presents the fully realized 500-term emotional lexicon, offering the highest-resolution mapping of English emotional expressions within the CEF architecture.

The purpose of this edition is threefold:

1. To establish a complete, drift-resistant emotional ontology grounded in the TS-6 hybrid symbolic–vector schema.
2. To provide a comprehensive reference lexicon spanning foundational, relational, motivational, cognitive-affective, existential, moral, aesthetic, and threat–safety domains.
3. To finalize the canonical structure of the EL-Series for use in research, modeling, and cross-linguistic extensions.

All entries in this volume adhere strictly to the CEF's representational standards. No prior entries have been altered; the lexicon is fully cumulative and historically stable.

End of EL-1 v1.0

EL-1 v1.0 concludes at EL1.500.

This edition represents the complete canonical emotional lexicon within the Core Emotion Framework. All entries from EL1.1 through EL1.500 are structurally validated, TS-6 compliant, and semantically coherent across the full emotional domain.

This volume finalizes the representational architecture of the EL-Series and establishes the foundation for future expansions, including cross-linguistic lexicons, domain-specific emotional subsets, and computational implementations.

No additional terms belong to v1.0.

All future developments will be released as part of the EL-Series v1.x and v2.x lines.

Acknowledgments

The development of EL-1 v1.0 reflects a sustained commitment to open-science principles, representational rigor, and cumulative semantic architecture. The author acknowledges the collaborative role of AI-assisted reasoning tools in accelerating structural validation, drift detection, and symbolic–vector coherence checks throughout the developmental process.
